Parents and Students:

A couple of quick notes as we wrap up another week.

- We have had several parents and students asking about spirit wear this year. We now have the online store setup! The deadline for orders is Saturday, November 28th at midnight so that we have time to get items delivered before winter break for parents that want to use them as presents.

- There are several classes that have playing tests that are due. I would like to be able to grade those over break so I would like those turned in by Tuesday. Students, please use the Music First website for your playing test submissions unless you have made alternate plans with Mr. Smikahl or Mrs. Creek.
- Parents, we are actively working on a plan for some type of end of semester virtual performance to give students a chance to show some of the work they have done this semester in both remote and in person learning. I hope to email everyone by Tuesday with more concrete plans on what that would look like.

Thanks,
Mr. Smikahl
